METHODOLOGICAL NOTES

The purpose of survey is to collect the data on beneficiaries of services that are in situation of social needs. The data on social protection beneficiaries are obtained through the statistical reports by centres for social work. They are a result of regular annual statistical surveys. The beneficiaries of social protection are classified in minor and adult beneficiaries.

Social protection beneficiary is any person who used, in the reporting year, one or more certain types, measures and services of centres for social work, i.e. social welfare services.

Minors are divided into: those in need due to a family situation, behavioural disorders, mentally and physically challenged and other minor beneficiaries.

Adult beneficiaries are divided into: those with behavioural disorders, mentally and physically challenged adults, economically disadvantaged persons, and other adult users.
